From Paratrooper to Green Beret

by Jim Phillips

Hardbound, with extensive photos, 280 pages

We invite you to share the story of one of the most remarkable individuals to wear the silver wings of a parachutist to the wearing of the Green Beret. Mostly told in his own words, the reader will share the adventures of this man who often cast his own mold within the military system.

• U.S. MILITARY FREEFALL WINGS • MFF

After a 12-year battle, in October of 1994, USSOCOM CINC authorized the MFF wing for temporary wear. It is available in two grades — basic and master — in both cloth and metal versions. This is the official badge being issued to all qualified personnel. As of July, 1997, this badge has been authorized. In 2015 the MFF Combat Star was authorized.

A decal of the design in basic and master is now available. The MFF badge is a copyright design by James Phillips.

If you think you've heard about the secret wars run by the OSS during WW-II, this ground breaking new book will open your eyes. Ten years in preparation from the ground commander of all OSS troops in North China, and from Dr. Brunner who served in the same theater in OSS staying on as an agent after WW-II.

A trove of untapped information is inside the covers of this book which will become the text to study for future generations interested in how small wars were run in China by American special operators.

Filled with unpublished photographs donated by surviving members of OSS, but kept hidden for sixty years.
